

Market Report

7/12/21 – 7/17/21

WEATHER -- The weather in the Salinas valley will be normal with temperatures in the 60- 75 range in Salinas and 93-104 in King City. It will continue to be hot and raining in New York.

EXTENDED OUTLOOK -- West Coast heat could trigger supply gaps As spiked temperatures continue to hang over parts of the West Coast--some climbing over 100 degrees--growers are watching and assessing how the heat may affect their crops. Looking ahead though, the heat could instigate some future gaps in supply. Crops growing quicker than normal will ultimately create a gap in our production schedule when things cool off. Since much of the baby tender leaf products are grown in the affected Salinas area at this time of year, it may create short-term supply disruptions, depending on how long the unprecedented temperatures remain elevated.

AVOCADO -- Rain is affecting the Mexican harvest. The current crop cycle will run to mid-to-late July. The transition to the Loca crop will follow. Sizing is heavy to 48ct and larger with lower supplies on smaller fruit; #2 supplies are tight.

ARUALGA -- Overall good quality, performance & color, should be that way the next few weeks.

ASPARAGUS -- Alert While the quality is still good, the market has really firmed up with light supplies.

BOK CHOY -- Quality, color and sizing are excellent.

BROCCOLI -- Supplies are lighter this week. We are seeing some hollow core and occasional brown bead.

BRUSSEL SPROUTS -- overall supplies remain strong, and the market has come down a little.

CARROTS -- Quality is good, still seeing limited supply on jumbos and very limited on snack packs out of California as Jumbos are still not sizing up.

CAULIFLOWER -- Supplies are expected to be plentiful this week. Overall quality and appearance should be very nice.

CELERY -- Business is better this week with good supplies for us and in the industry. Quality is good and the market is better in Salinas. We are fully transitioned to Salinas.

CILANTRO -- supplies are expected to be light towards the end of the week.

GREEN BEANS -- Quality is good and markets are strong. Western supplies are moderate on good demand with Fresno starting next week.

GREEN ONIONS -- Supplies are expected to be plentiful this week. Overall quality and appearance should be very nice.

KALE -- Steady in both supply and price.

LETTUCE -- supplies continue to be slightly lower than budget. Fields that were behind schedule have caught up due to the increase in demand. Quality is still very good. The weather has been mild and growing conditions have been ideal. The forecast is for steady prices for the week.

LEAF / ROMAINE -- production volumes are tracking slightly above budget for the week. Overall quality is nice with a good green color, full heads, and good texture. Recent winds have produced some light fringe burn. Demand is steadily increasing, and FOB pricing is steady.

MUSHROOMS --. As we have been reporting the last few weeks, the freight, labor, and supply challenges are expected to last for the next several months.

Market Report

7/12/21 – 7/17/21

NAPPA -- Supplies are expected to be plentiful for the next two weeks.

PARSLEY -- We will have great quality and good supplies over the next few weeks.

PEPPERS -- supplies are scattered with good quality. Sizing is small and markets are moving well. Coachella red bells will finish, and San Joaquin Valley reds should start with light volumes. Markets will remain elevated through mid-July. Quality from Coachella is fair to good due to heat.

CUCUMBERS -- Alert supplies are light from Baja due to a gap. No change is anticipated until local picks up, though demand will increase.

SQUASH -- Western supplies are steady for zucchini with stronger markets for yellow. New areas are not ready. Demand should improve.

POTATOES -- Increased acreage for Idaho potatoes this fall. Idaho has added a significant amount of acreage for its potatoes for fall 2021.

RADISHES -- The quality is very good, and the market is steady overall.

SPINACH -- Supplies and quality are good this week. A known superfood, Spinach is high in vitamin C and has an earthy flavor.

SPRING MIX -- Supplies and quality are good this week.

TOMATOES

CHERRY: Alert Similar to grapes, cherry volume is low. Cherries are selling out at higher prices every day. We anticipate more volume within a week.

GRAPE: Are extremely short. There is heavy demand and prices are high. There are few farms in production, and there are gaps in the East due to crops finishing before new production begins. Production in the East is projected to begin in about a week. Once the new production areas get started, volume will increase. Crossings from Mexico through both Baja, Mexico and McAllen, Texas are at a significant decrease. Mexico is selling out of their supply at higher prices every day.

ROMA: Alert production is good out of central California and Mexico. Roma production in Tennessee is getting started, but other than that, there is not a lot of production out East. Mexico has had a lot of rain recently, so quality can be an issue. The market is all over the board depending on quality and location.

APPLES -- Washington State storage movement is ahead of projections. As a result, most shippers are slowing packing schedules and/or strengthening pricing to stabilize demand and ensure availability through summer into new crop.

BLACKBERRIES -- Supply is expected to remain at similar levels for the next couple of weeks. Oxnard and North Carolina are in peak production. Santa Maria and Watsonville are slowly increasing their supply. We expect Santa Maria and Watsonville to increase production in the next 3-4 weeks and lead us into the summer peak in August. The Northern District has seen consistent quality as production continues increasing.

BLUEBERRIES -- We are past the peak of Baja production, and we will continue to see decreasing volumes for one more week. SJV is past peak and will decrease for one more week. Other areas of the country as well for various and assorted reasons, are not offering much volume. The San Joaquin Valley production is down-trending quickly as result of some warm weather driving some quality challenges.

NW CHERRIES -- Despite a record heat wave, Northwest cherry growers still expect strong supplies. The heat will have some effect on the crop, but growers have dealt with this before, as example this year the cherries are being harvested at night. Again, despite the heat, it appears the crop is about 17% greater than that of one year ago.

KIWI FRUIT -- Supplies of imported kiwis are slightly lower and are meeting strong demand. Meanwhile demand from retailers and wholesalers for kiwi is strong. We are seeing an uptick in orders from foodservice providers now that hotels and restaurants are coming out of COVID-19-related reductions in service.

LEMONS -- We are in a demand exceeds situation. The lemon crop had some damage to it this winter from heavy winds that scarred up the fruit (standards). There is very little fancy grade available. Offshore fruit will be here in the next few weeks. This market will be advancing. For your outside dining, please find a useful recipe.

LIMES -- Supply is expected to be strong during July. We need to be vigilant regarding the weather as there is high probability for an active hurricane season.

ORANGE -- Markets are mostly steady with a mix of navels and Valencia's. Smaller fruit is tight, and markets could become active.

MELONS -- The Imperial Valley and central AZ cantaloupe production is waning. Central CA is off to a late start. Supplies should increase mid-July. Honeydew remains close to a demand exceeds supply situation. Production is light from the desert and lighter from Nogales. CA production should start late next week. Strong markets and light supplies are projected to continue through at least mid-July.

WATERMELONS -- The quality is pretty good, while the demand is a little soft. As we switch areas next week, the market should soften up a bit.

STRAWBERRIES -- Despite the heat wave in California, strawberry production continues to chug along with higher volume than last year. Demand is slowing and markets are mostly steady. Fruit is smaller following the high heat with some riper, deep red fruit.
